Huey Long I

I purchased calf from Paul Stoner of Lodaga, Indiana. This steer placed 3rd in his class at the State Fair. He also was Reserve Grand Champion Gold Medal Steer at the same show. He also placed 10th in his class at the International.

I think this is the best steer I have ever had.

Indiana Calves Still in Running

CHICAGO — Twenty-one Indiana beef feeder calves survived the Friday eliminations for final competition in the junior livestock feeding contest at the International Livestock exposition in the amphitheater at the Union Stock Yards here Saturday.

Indiana calves still in the race for international honors included those of the following: Harry Rayburn, 17, Buck Creek; Roy Herath, 14, Brook; Bernell Marks, 20, and James Smoker, both of Wanatah, and Dean Sowers, 17, Waveland, all showing Aberdeen-Angus entries; Norman Standish, 16, Kentland, showing a Shorthorn; Edward William German, 18, Romney; Marilyn Brown, 16, Fowler; Ted Hunt, 13, and Fred Grond, 20, Lafayette, and Ann J. Mahan, 14, Lake Village, all showing Herefords.

County Youths To Show Calves at International

Five young Tippecanoe county cattle feeders will exhibit calves of their own raising in the junior classes at the 53rd annual International Livestock exposition in Chicago Nov. 29 through Dec. 6.

Ted Hunt, 13, and Fred Grond, 20, have listed Herefords, and Jimmy Hawkins, 12, will show an Aberdeen-Angus. Grond's steer won the Gold Medal championship at the 1952 state fair. All live near Lafayette.

Harry Rayburn, 17, of Buck Creek, has listed an Aberdeen-Angus, and E. William German, 18, Romney, will exhibit a Hereford. Their steers won first in their classes at the 1952 Tippecanoe county fair and Rayburn's steer was the reserve grand champion.
